

Our Services

Health and safety audits

A health and safety audit is one of the most important and valuable things you can do. Our approach is methodical and adaptable. We look at every aspect of your business, be it physical, managerial, or procedure-based, and we check all of the relevant documentation to show where the strengths are and where improvements are needed.

Health and safety policies

Required by law for all businesses with over five employees, but still advisable for any company, health and safety policies are crucial. But they aren't just about ticking a box, they can make a valuable difference to the health and wellbeing of your team and the running of your business. We don't issue generic, off-the-shelf documentation, we understand your company, and sector, and deliver bespoke, transformative policies.

Risk assessments

Risk assessments are the backbone of health and safety management. Identifying hazards and control measures to reduce risk to an acceptable level is the cornerstone of what we do. Everything stems from risk assessments, and we work closely with you to look at what's in place and make recommendations which are practical and realistic.

Safe systems of work / method statements

The devil is in the detail for safe systems of work also known as method statements, and no detail must be missed. If it is, you may not be protected. Our approach is preventative rather than reactive and it's important that we work closely with you to not only deliver safety precautions to control the risks identified in the risk assessment, but to make sure your team is fully briefed.

Fire risk assessments

We keep your team safe and your business fire safety compliant, carrying out risk assessments by experienced, qualified fire engineers who operate at the highest industry standard and recommend the best measures to ensure fire safety.

COSHH assessments

A legal requirement for those with hazardous substances in the workplace, we work with you to establish all potential hazards, and make practical recommendations to help streamline your processes and ensure your team is safe.

Manual handling risk assessments

Not just about lifting, manual handling risk assessments also include scenarios like the pushing and pulling of a load. We ask the right questions to reduce risk, always looking for practical solutions such as simplifying processes or mechanising them in accordance with HSE recognised best practice.

CHAS / SafeContractor and other safety accreditation

We walk you through the accreditations your business needs and implement them quickly and cost-effectively. We can manage the whole process, from collating responses to completing the application process and forms for you. As standard, we get you to the standard where you'll be at a level to gain an accreditation anyway, so if you ever need to apply, you'll be ready.

Display Screen Equipment (DSE) and ergonomic assessments

We help to improve workplace productivity and wellbeing by assessing your set up, and suggesting realistic changes such as lighting, ventilation and posture, to not only ensure you're fully compliant, but to make holistic change.

Document production as required for a complete health and safety management system

Put simply, we provide everything you need to ensure that you are fully compliant, making realistic proposals, and providing systems which are easy for your workforce to use as well as completing all of the relevant documentation. We do the hard work so you can get on with running your business.

Asbestos surveys and management plans

We offer health and safety advice if you have asbestos and we work with specialist partners who can survey it and remove it if necessary. Just because you have it, doesn't mean you have to remove it and spend money unnecessarily and we can help to advise you, or refer you onto an expert.

Safety training courses

We offer training courses tailored for your individual needs and the environment you work in, both directly or through partners who offer services at discounted rates through Emprocom. We can carry out training courses either at your own premises, or at our training facility in Langworth, just outside Lincoln. Courses we offer can be accredited, or non-accredited.

Problem solving for safety issues in your workplace

No two issues and no two companies are the same, and even after 20 years of working in the field of health and safety management, we come across unique situations that require out of the box thinking, but also cost-effective, realistic solutions.

Accident investigation

We leave no stone unturned to determine the causes of any accident in the workplace. We work in a structured way to drill down to find the immediate, underlying and root causes to ensure that any recurrence can be avoided.

Telephone health and safety advice

If it's real-time health and safety advice you need, look no further. Our team can help you with any queries and offer guidance, any time.
